

APONIENTE

BOOKING | FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What are we seeking?

Delight our clients with a unique and different way through Ángel León and his crew's 21st-century reinterpretation of the cuisine of the sea. Our clients can enjoy the experience that we offer at our tables at each lunch or dinner cover. This involves one tasting menu divided into acts that combine snacks, cold dishes, hot dishes, desserts and petit fours. These can be enjoyed together with a wine pairing or, if you prefer, with any of the Spanish or International wines on our wine list.

How do I get to Aponiente?

We are located in the Old Tide Mill behind the train station of Puerto Santa Maria (check on Google Maps). We offer several parking places although it is strongly recommended to come by train or taxi.

Dress code

Aponiente does not require an elegant dress code but long pants and shoes are preferred by gentlemen.

Can I come to the restaurant with small children?

The length of the menu makes it difficult for young children to enjoy the dining experience. If you wish to come to Aponiente with children you must contact the Restaurant's reservations department in advance; they will give you all the necessary information. We do not have highchairs nor a babysitting service. For the safety of our patrons, strollers are not allowed during the service.

How long does the meal last?

Between 3 and 3½ hours. It also depends on the pace that the diners set. In addition, if you smoke, we suggest you let us know how many cigarette breaks you intend to take so that we can take this into account.

Does Aponiente have disabled access?

Aponiente is settled in a historical building offering complete access.

If I have an allergy, am celiac, intolerant to a particular type of food, or there is an ingredient I don't like, is an alternative possible?

Yes, as long as you notify the Reservations department before confirming your booking. We will discuss it with the chef in order to modify the menu to the extent possible and adapt it to your needs. Allergies with no previous information will not be accommodated

I am vegetarian, is there a menu for me?

Is there only wine pairing with the menu?
